New Postal Rules Affect Norwich

Seven Employees in the Local Postoffice Will Receive Increase in Salaries—Sunday Closing Order Means That

No Mail Will Be Distributed After Saturday Night But Boxes Will Still Be Accessible.

Postmaster William Caruthers through departmental communications and the employees of the Norwich postoffice through the official bulletin of the National Association of Postoffice

Clerks have received word from headquarters at Washington of the passage of new postal laws. Among the other things the new law provides for the Sunday closing of postoffices, the regulation of work during ten consecutive hours, and increase in salaries of clerks and carriers.

Salaries Raised Here.

At the Norwich postoffice the employees to immediately benefit by this new rule, which raises their salaries $100 a year, are Joseph A. J. Donnelly and Maurice J. Buckley among the clerks, and of the carriers Frank E.

Sterry, Myles E. O'Sullivan, John W.

Haselein, Albert A. Gille and John L.

Coulman.

The bulletin announces the passage of the Kelly eight hour bill, framed by Congressman Thomas L. Reilly of Meriden, and providing for clerks and carriers to work eight hours a day within ten consecutive hours. In other words it means that not more than ten hours shall elapse between the time when a carrier goes to work and the time he is quit.

As it is now, while a clerk or carrier may not work but eight hours a day and eight hours or give the same stretching along through 12 or 13 hours. For instance a carrier may go to work at 6 a. m. and not quit until 8 or 9 p. m. and still work only eight hours.

This bill becomes effective March 4, 1913. It then the present system will continue.

Another bill, whose passage this bulletin announces, is the Lloyd antitrust bill, which will be passed by congress on Monday. It will give a postal employee being given a written copy of the charges against him and a
